PROBLEMS.....!

(Anitha Chopra)

Every human being at every age faces some problem irrespective of whether they are rich or poor, educated or uneducated, employed or unemployed. They can be Health related Children related, Parents related, Spouse related, Business related, Technical or Technological – problems in various forms are part and parcel of human life, for some not having a problem is a problem!

Problems and goals often go hand in hand. Problems are speed breakers that we face in pursuit of our goals. When things don't do the way as we want them to go we see that as a problem.

So every one will have problems, troubles, fears worries and anxieties. Any way no body promised us a life free from problems – did then?

There was the person who was watching moon with a telescope. One day he saw a big dragon which was approaching the earth. He was horrified. Every one in the village too came to see the dragon and were shocked. All of them decided to migrate from the village to save their lives. One old wise man saw the same thing, but removed the dead fly from the lens of the telescope and it was gone, Ha...! ha...! How many magnified dead flies we face in our day to day life? Something within most of us is a problem magnifying glass with a shift in the way we see problems, we can stop making mountains from mole-hills and start making mole-hills from mountains. We are not even talking about global problems. Nobody appointed you or me as the manager of the world. Let us first focus on personal problems and see how we can solve them. First of all let us replace the word “problem” with “challenge” and then proceed. Our words from our worlds. When we change words we change worlds! Let us change our vocabulary and that would change our thoughts, which in turn will change our mind, which in turn will enable us to view the same world, but with a never perception. Let us find solution to our problems in a substantial way.

First write down exactly what the challenge is, don't just keep thinking about it, write it down exactly, precisely and concisely. As Charls Kettering put it so beautifully “A problem well stated is a problem half solved”.

Now write the possible sources for the challenge, get all the facts - only the facts. Because, half of the worry in the world is caused by people trying to make decisions before they have sufficient knowledge on which they can base their decisions.

Then write down every possible effective solution. Every challenge holds within itself the keys to its solution. Keep your mind alert and open to have, as collective intelligence man make a difference. The end is actually the beginning. Now immediately act upon the solution arrived.

When it comes to solving problems and challenges the best approach is “divide and conquer”. Divide now life into one compartment. Shut all Yesterdays. Shut out all tomorrows live only in this day or today. Now you have only one day's challenge to conquer. Challenge you. Let the inheritable out come by conquering them. Solve or use them as stepping stones to your success. Let winning be your only way of your life.

Believe in your self. Keep your priority strictly. Take responsibility for your self. Vouch to create now own future. Focus on what you want. Be creative. Think big. Control your stress. Think positive. Never give up. Look began the challenges and focus on the out come you wish to achieve.
